What are the challenges of EnterpriseNGR in the upcoming months?

We are delighted to be joining WAIFC and consider this a major advancement of our key objective of positioning Nigeria as the leading financial center on the continent. Our major challenges over the next few months can be summarized as follows:

I. Coopetition with other members of WAIFC: Our vision to position Nigeria as the premier financial center in Africa implies that we must compete favorably with other IFCs. As a member of WAIFC, we see opportunities to cooperate and collaborate with other IFCs to drive initiatives that improve the global financial ecosystem. Membership of WAIFC also affords EnterpriseNGR the opportunity to learn from other established IFCs and to work bilaterally or multilaterally through MOUs to achieve common goals that support the achievement of our vision for Nigeria.

II. Working with Nigeria’s new government: Our membership of WAIFC is coming at a fortuitous time given the fact that a new government is expected to be in place in Nigeria by May. We intend to leverage best-in-class knowledge and practices gained from interactions with other WAIFC member organizations to support the new administration in developing optimal policies and structures to help advance the development of the financial and professional services sector in Nigeria; while promoting the country as the destination of choice for trade and investment.

III. Talent development/retention: A successful financial center requires a skilled workforce. The ongoing brain drain in Nigeria via the migration of talented Nigerian professionals to other countries needs to be addressed for Nigeria’s economy to achieve its potential. EnterpriseNGR’s initiative, the Youth of Enterprise internship program is designed to nurture the next generation of workplace talent by upskilling young graduates and placing them in high-value internships within the financial and professional services sector. We are also developing initiatives to ensure we not only retain local talent but also attract talent from around the world.

What are the main objectives within the WAIFC?

Our main objective within WAIFC will be primarily centered around our key priorities as an organization. These are:

I. Financial Inclusion: Globally, financial inclusion remains a thorny issue with over 24% of the world’s population remaining unbanked. The situation is even worse in Nigeria with nearly half of the population unbanked. A priority for us in WAIFC will be exploring future-forward ways to improve financial inclusion globally with a specific focus on the African continent and Nigeria in particular.

II. Digitalization: We will work within WAIFC to promote innovation and the adoption of cutting-edge technology across various sub-sectors of Financial and Professional Services. Africa has an opportunity to leapfrog where technology is concerned and we will work within WAIFC to understand and promote the future trends of financial technology.

III. Regionalization: Taking advantage of the African Continental Free Trade Area, we will work with other African members of WAIFC to boost intra-Africa trade.

IV. International trade and investment: We will actively promote multilateral trade and investment between Africa and the rest of the world. The establishment of the African Chapter of WAIFC is critical in this regard. We will collaborate with other African IFCs to attract international players to the continent while also encouraging local operators to internationalize.

V. Sustainability: We intend to work with WAIFC to advance sustainability globally. While ensuring environmental, social, and governance (ESG) considerations are given top priority within the Financial and Professional services space, we will also ensure talent development/attraction is also prioritized.

Overall, we will collaborate with all WAIFC members to improve regulatory cooperation, knowledge sharing, and capacity building.

Jersey Finance: Progress towards gender equality in the Channel Islands will take decades to achieve if the current pace of change continues

The article discusses the pace of progress towards achieving gender equality in the Channel Islands. According to a report by a leading audit firm, the current pace of change is slow, and it could take several decades to achieve gender parity in senior positions in the finance sector.

The report suggests that addressing unconscious bias, improving diversity and inclusion policies, and increasing female representation in leadership positions could help accelerate progress towards gender equality. However, the report acknowledges that change will take time and requires a concerted effort from individuals, organizations, and policymakers in the Channel Islands.

Finance Malta: FATF reforms will improve the fight against money laundering and terrorism financing

Dr. Marcus Pleyer discusses the recent reforms proposed by the Financial Action Task Force (FATF), an intergovernmental organization that develops and promotes policies to combat money laundering and terrorism financing. According to Pleyer, the President of FATF, the proposed reforms will strengthen the global fight against financial crimes by improving transparency, enhancing cooperation among countries, and promoting the use of new technologies to detect and prevent illicit activities.

The article focuses on the importance of these reforms for Malta, a small island nation that relies heavily on its financial services sector. The reforms are expected to increase Malta’s compliance with international anti-money laundering and counter-terrorism financing standards and boost the country’s reputation as a trusted financial center.
